

THOMAS BÖHM

Thomas Böhm is an author, literary mediator and moderator.

From 1999 to 2010 he directed the Literaturhaus Köln and during this period organized numerous readings with Nobel laureates for literature.

In 2011 he managed Iceland's guest of honour appearance at the Frankfurt Book Fair. In addition, Böhm took over the management of the Internationales Literature Festival in Berlin from 2012 to 2014, during which he explored the significance and connection of literature with Europe, its structures and future.

Other activities and projects followed, for example in the course of the Leipzig Book Fair on behalf of the Swiss Booksellers and Publishers Association in 2014, as well as moderation and columns for various national radio stations (Radio Bremen, RBB, Radio Eins).

In addition, Thomas Böhm regularly participates in the production of audiobooks. The most recent is the 2019 audiobook Schau dir das an, das ist der Krieg: Dieter Wellerhoff erzählt sein Leben als Soldat.

Thomas Böhm is a member of the jury of the Capital Cultural Fund 2019/2020.
